Trying to run pdflatex on the difference file generated by latexdiff fails with a "Misplaced \noalign" error. This seems to be due to a bug in latexdiff which occasionally does not handle \hline well.

Using the option `--graphics-markup=none` with latexdiff, as suggested by its documentation for these cases, does not help.

I am therefore not in a position to provide a file with track changes, sorry.