I think the modifications done by the authors address all my comments. In particular, they now explain better what they mean here by a local weighting method and I agree with their explanation. I also appreciate that they now give some perspective on the fact that a true local weighting could be of interest.