

Dear Dr. Tim Garrett,

We appreciate the helpful suggestions from the editor. We now provide a revised abstract incorporating all of your comments, which we feel has resulted in significant improvements.

Given the additional opportunity to make edits for the final version, a few other minor improvements have been made to the body of the manuscript. First, subsection headers have been added to the Methods section, making this section more organized and easy to navigate. Secondly, the Concluding Remarks section has been trimmed and polished in order to be more consistent with the revised abstract. Minor grammatical changes were also made.

We would like to thank the editor and reviewers again for the time and effort they have put into providing constructive feedback on this manuscript.

Sincerely,
Elise Rosky
