The last editor decision letter contained no new comments that could be replied to here.

The manuscript is now revised according to the minor revisions proposed by the reviewers and authors in the open discussion and commented on in the uploaded final comments to the reviewers, which were excepted by the editor. The reviews have already been responded to.

We did everything agreed to on the author's response to the reviewers.