

Dear Editor,

We are resubmitting a revised version of our paper 'The 1538 eruption at Campi Flegrei resurgent caldera: implications for future unrest and eruptive scenarios', which now includes all the revisions required/suggested by the reviewer who required minor revision. Where the reviewer required clarifications on the text, we have tried to make it clearer; where the suggestions were not compelling, we decided to eventually accept them or to modify in order to make the content clearer, preserving the basic concepts and ideas.

We hope now the paper content can be accepted for publication; we are however ready to eventually improve some figures, if it would be required.

Best Regards

Giuseppe De Natale