

I thank the authors for thoroughly addressing the first round of reviews. In the revised version they discussed a possible dilution effect of WWTPs effluents, included several parametrizations for the gas transfer coefficient, addressed seasonal effects and added missing information about their sampling strategies. I have no further comments and suggest the paper for publication.