The authors have sufficiently dealt with all of the comments that I raised, and I believe the manuscript is much improved as a result. I recommend the paper is published following a final question for the authors. Why was new data added to Figure 10? There is substantially more data, which appears to have come from the addition of the Bigg datasets. Why was this added and why was it not included in the previous version? There is no explanation in the response.