

Response to Topic Editor's comments

The technical corrections I suggest relate to enhancing the figures, improving their layout, potentially homogenising font sizes and reducing, when possible, spacing between subplot panels.

All figures have been remade using Julia's GLMakie package instead of Plots (as in the original version), so now look much better.

This also required posting a new version of the software (1.1) on Zenodo.