

Response to the Editor and Reviewers

Dear Editor and Reviewers,

We sincerely thank you for your careful reading of our manuscript and for your constructive and insightful comments. We have carefully addressed all remarks and revised the manuscript accordingly. The latest changes include some clarifications of key interpretations, improved articulation of mechanisms, reduction of redundancies between Results and Discussion, and refinement of several methodological explanations.

We believe that these revisions have strengthened the clarity, coherence, and robustness of the manuscript, and we are grateful for the opportunity to improve it through your feedback.

We hope that the revised version meets the journal's standards and we remain at your disposal for any further clarification.

Sincerely,
Rodrigo San Martín
