

This manuscript presents a well-conducted study that is clearly written and logically organized. The objectives are well defined, the methodology is appropriate and sufficiently described, and the results are presented and discussed in a clear and coherent manner.

I found the analyses to be sound and the conclusions to be well supported by the presented results. The manuscript is of good scientific quality and provides a valuable contribution to the field.

Overall, I did not identify any scientific or methodological issues requiring revision. The manuscript is already suitable for publication in its current form, and I have no substantive comments to improve it further.

Recommendation: Accept as submitted.