

Atmospheric moisture and near-surface temperature anomalies: key drivers in the 2022 European mega-drought

Accepted for publication in Natural Hazards and Earth System Sciences (NHESS)

Dear Production Team,

I would like to confirm that the manuscript has been fully adjusted to the official NHESS template and complies with all formatting requirements for production. The structure, section numbering, figure placement, and overall layout strictly follow the Copernicus guidelines.

In addition, all references have been carefully revised and reformatted according to the NHESS citation standards, ensuring consistency with the journal's style for articles, reports, datasets, and online resources.

Please proceed with the production process.

Kind regards,

José Carlos Fernández-Alvarez